SEVERAL SKETCHES GIVEN
Large Number Take Part In Program; High School Orchestra Furnishes Music

A large crowd attended the program given by the part-time students last night, at the Roosevelt Junior high school. The Richmond Union high school orchestra, under the direction of George M. Morris furnished the music.

"Joshing the Janitor" was the first scene to be staged. Bennie Baird took the part of the Janitor, Leslie Tonander as Mr. Jones and Wardell Freeman, as Happy Jack, the boot-black.

Jones proved his skill in joshing the janitor by a group of figures and had arithmetic, while Happy Jack proved himself a good boot-black as well as a good singer.

"Politics ain't what they used to be" was the second comic. Sam De Phillips, Almada and Ernest Sowden, taking the parts of the candidates, Norman Goldsworthy, Albert Colclough, and George Colclough, next played two numbers on the cornets.

The fourth number was "Sales and a Solitaire." Eileen McElhannon, Theresa Verneti, Mary Lewis, Lena Cortopassi, and Howard McElhannon taking part.

"The Country Cousins" were indeed from the country. Clara Martz, Theresa Verneti, Angelina Cavaglia, Naomi Clark, Alvia Davis, Blanche Ferri, Pierina Parina, Mary Lewis, Lena Cortopassi, Louise Verneti, Marie Kinstrom, Justus Wyman, Pauline Beda, Elizabeth Pacheco, and Sam De Phillips taking part.

The one act play "Who's a Coward?" finished the program for the evening. It was well played with Eddie Walczak as the husband, Eileen McElhannon as the wife and Justus Wyman as the thief.

Furniture for the stage setting was loaned by the Standard Furniture company.

Engagement of Royal Couple Is Broken Off

By LUTHER A. HUSTON
Staff Correspondent Universal Service

TOKIO, Nov. 18.—Announcement today of the breaking of the engagement between Prince Asakura, brother of the Japanese crown prince, and Lady Kikuko, sister of Count Sakai, created a sensation in court circles, his act is believed to be the forerunner of drastic reforms in the royal marriage customs of Japan.

Future princes of the blood, it is predicted, will be allowed wider liberty in selecting their brides, and the age-old custom of juvenile betrothals and long engagements will be abandoned.

Hitherto royal princes have been allowed to seek their brides from among only a few select families. The new reforms undoubtedly will increase the number of those qualified families.

JOHN C. HALES PASSES AWAY

John C. Freemont Hales, 413 Eighteenth street, well-known potter of Richmond, passed away at his home here late yesterday at the age of 63 years. Hales was a native of Ohio and had been a resident of this city for the past six years.

Funeral services under the auspices of local Masons will be held from the Wilson and Kratzer parlors Thursday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock after which the remains will be shipped to Ohio for interment.

Hales is survived by his wife, Mrs. Pauline Hales, and the following children: C. S. Hales and Mrs. Eva Pauline Seger of Richmond; J. C. Hales, Jr., of Virginia; Mrs. Bessie Wells Young and Mrs. Anna Schumann of Steubenville, Ohio.

The deceased was a past master of the Toronto, Ohio Masonic lodge, and was active in Masonic work.

The remains are at the Wilson and Kratzer parlors.

The third degree was conferred upon a class of candidates last night by the Alpha Lodge, No. 431, P. and A. M. Hutt Brown, Worshipful Master, presided. An election of officers will be held in December and installation of those elected will take place in January.

Judge McKenzie Hands Down Verdict in El Cerrito Fight Over Use of Club's Name

MARTINEZ, Nov. 18.—With a Solomon like decision in which both sides won, promulgation of arrangements for an election that is expected to develop intense rivalry and a decision casting to the scrap heap of legal precedent all holdings of family heads, Superior Judge A. B. McKenzie yesterday afternoon patched up for the time being the bitter dispute that has raged for more than a year among factions of the El Cerrito Improvement Club. Judge McKenzie's decision, or, rather, series of decisions came following trial of an injunction suit instituted by W. D. Stark and adherents of Stark's faction against W. F. Talmadge and Talmadge's supporters to halt the latter from alleged improper use of the name of the association.

After spending an afternoon in court, thirty El Cerrito residents, with each faction occupying one side of the court room and breathing charges of "usurper" against the other, the litigants made their way to the street vowing that the proceedings were "better'n a circus."

Milk War Factions Deadlocked 22 ARRESTED AS RESULT OF DAY'S FIGHTING

Battle Between Deputy Sheriffs
And Hi-Jackers Results In Jailing of Many

DAIRY RAIDS CONTINUE
Supply for Oakland Is Cut Down
To 56 per cent of Normal 6 Amount

(By Universal Service)
OAKLAND, Nov. 18.—"Hopelessly deadlocked" was the declaration tonight of opposing factions in the milk war.

Armed strikers continued raids on dairies and delivery trucks in various districts while the distributors are protected by deputy sheriffs and police attempt to end the strike by hauling milk from independent producers.

The day's activities resulted in 22 arrests in a battle between deputy sheriffs and a gang of 60 hi-jackers, who attacked truck convoys near Tracy.

Dr. C. C. Wing, chief dairy inspector of Oakland, reported tonight that 65 percent of the normal milk supply had been received today.

Due to the dumping of milk intended for the Purdy Creamery here yesterday, Richmond's supply of milk was cut short by 20 percent. It was made known, Alfred Costa, manager of the creamery, said that his supply of 250 gallons from the Valley Creamery company had been dumped by the warring producers.

The day before the consignment of milk had been allowed to go through, when it was found that it was going to Richmond. But yesterday it was learned that about 30 gallons of the supply would go to Oakland. This fact induced them to dump the entire amount.

About 1200 gallons of milk are consumed daily in Richmond. Thus a shortage of 250 gallons reduces the supply by 20 percent. It is reported that the Eagle Creamery received their entire supply.

So far no violence has been reported in Contra Costa county, although producers have been dumping the milk as a result of the war.

DR. GIBERSON IS NAMED AS NEW MEMBER

Woman Appear to Ask That Mrs.
Billy Brown Be Elected
To Position

BOARD TELLS OF PLEDGE
Explain That No Woman Had
Been Suggested to Them For Appointment

At the meeting of the grammar school board last night in the Lincoln school, Dr. W. W. Giberson, 1208 Nevin avenue, was appointed to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Lloyd Pockman, who was called to Trenton, New Jersey. The appointment went into effect last night and expires on June 30, 1925.

A delegation of women, headed by Mrs. Mattie Chandler, Mrs. Ross Coffee, and Mrs. S. S. Ripley were present to urge the filling of the place by a woman. Mrs. Billy Brown, president of the P. T. A., was the candidate put forward.

The board explained its action in declining that no woman had been put forward for their consideration. Mrs. Ross Coffee said that she had been under the impression that a woman's name had been submitted to the board for consideration. However, J. O. Ford, president of the board, declared that he had received none, and thus had gone ahead with the appointment of Dr. Giberson.

The women then asked if it were possible to reconsider the question. But as the word of the board had been already pledged to Dr. Giberson, Ford declared that such action would be impossible.

Dr. Giberson had been informally appointed on Monday afternoon by members of the board. This action was questioned as to its legality, but it was finally agreed that such appointment was within the powers of the board.

Candidacy Indorsed
Mrs. Billy Brown, the women's candidate for the position, was indorsed at the meeting of P. T. A. on Monday afternoon.

Will Ask Bids
Other business taken up at the meeting consisted of a discussion of the plans submitted by James T. Nabbert for the addition to be built to the Fairmont school, in El Cerrito, December 16, was set as the date on which advertising will be opened for bids on the structure. The cost of the building is estimated at $20,000 to $25,000.

On Wednesday, December 26, a joint meeting will probably be held between the grammar schools and high school board and the City Council to discuss the question of caring for papers, which, according to a complaint made, said to be around the Lincoln school and the Roosevelt Junior high school grounds. Also the question of the placing of lights on Eighth and Ninth streets, between Bissell and Macdonald avenues.

Fire Chief Cooper has made certain recommendations concerning the building of a drive way over the gutter at Tenth and Twelfth Main streets, which are both blind thoroughfares. This also will be considered at the next meeting of the board.

ANNUAL BANQUET HELD BY MASONS

Holding of the third annual banquet was the feature of the meeting held last night by the Point Richmond lodge, No. 503, P. and A. M. at the Masonic temple. L. S. Moore, Worshipful Master, presided at the meeting, and acted as toastmaster for the banquet.

The third degree was also conferred by the charter officers upon a class of candidates. Following which the festivities began. Music for the affair was furnished by Burk Calfee's orchestra. And the guests were further entertained by several songs sung by a trio from Berkeley. A large crowd attended.

HOGAN JURY DEADLOCKED

OAKLAND, Nov. 18.—At a late hour tonight the jury in the case of Howard Hogan, held for manslaughter, was deadlocked, and indications were that a disagreement would ensue. Arrangements were being made to lock-up the jury for the night at 11:20 o'clock.

Meanwhile the defendant, Howard Hogan, wealthy young Oaklander, whose speeding car mobile ran down and killed D. R. Rodriguez and a friend George Rodriguez, the night of June 1, sat in Superior Judge Fred B. Wood's courtroom nervously awaiting the verdict.

No word came from the jury room after the deliberations began until 6 o'clock, when it was announced that no decision had been reached. The jury was then taken to dinner, returning at 8 o'clock for further discussion.

The trial of young Hogan, college man and former naval officer, was concluded with the argument of District Attorney Ezra Deonta, who presented an appeal for conviction, declaring that "I cannot see any excuse for an acquittal in this case."

TIME FOR A NEW DEAL

Under the Constitution it was the distinct intention of its framers that every state should be represented in the lower house of congress in exact proportion to its population. In accordance with that provision, at the first election the ratio was fixed at one representative in congress for every 30,000 citizens.

This ratio has been revised upward at each successive census till in 1910 it reached the proportion of one in each 211,877. Since that date there has been no alteration in the number of representatives and no redistribution. Consequently with the remarkable shifting of population in the last fourteen years, what was intended to be a proportionate representation of the whole country has become a very disproportionate one.

In the refusal of the house of representatives to redistribute seats according to the last census figures the Pacific coast states, as the leaders in progress, development and population, have suffered a grave injustice. Two grave that injustice has become can easily be seen by a perusal of the latest figures on population and representation.

In the present congress California has eleven representatives. Alabama with not much more than half the population, has ten. Georgia, with 500,000 fewer citizens (including the practically-disfranchised negro) has twelve representatives to California's eleven. Missouri, with a smaller population than California, has sixteen. Massachusetts, leading California by a nose in the census stakes for 1924, has also sixteen representatives.

Virginia, whose population is more than 1,000,000 short of the California figure, has only one representative less than our own state. New Jersey has two more members than we have to represent 400,000 fewer people.

Washington also suffers from the same disproportionate representation. Washington has a population of 1,397,000 and five representatives. Nebraska, with 1,301,000, has six. Florida, with only two-thirds the people of Washington, has four. Maryland, with 1,457,000, has six representatives.

Oregon shows the same under-representation. She has a larger population than Maine and smaller representation in the house.

According to the carefully compiled estimates for the year 1925 (prepared by the United States bureau of the census) California, Michigan and Massachusetts are running a neck-and-neck race for sixth place in state population. They are exceeded only by New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio and Texas. Yet in its number of representatives California is still down in fourteenth place. What more glaring discrepancy could be imagined than California with eleven representatives for 42,021,000 and Alabama with ten representatives for 2,467,000 or New Jersey with twelve representatives for 3,506,000.

Since the taking of the last census there have been some sporadic efforts to correct these discrepancies according to the intention of the Constitution. These efforts have been barren of results, the house contending that in increase its membership would make the body too large and cumbersome for the efficient transaction of business.

The contention is correct. The house is already too cumbersome for practical purposes. In the last congress its business efficiency was near the zero point. But such objections do not touch the important duty of redistribution that every section of the republic may be equally represented.

It is not necessary in the least to increase the present membership of the house above the 435 fixed at the 1910 census. It is only necessary to increase the ratio to accord with present census figures. Thus, with a population of 113,000,000 for the whole country, the index figure approximately would be one representative for every 262,000 of population.

Redistribution at this rate, according to present state populations, would bring about a decided shifting in the political complexion of the present congress. For instance, California would then have (at the maximum estimate) sixteen representatives, possibly all republicans, while the over-represented democratic states of the south would be placed in the position where they really belong.

Were the seats in the house properly apportioned according to the census figures President Coolidge would now be assisted there by a strong working republican majority in carrying out his constructive policies.—Los Angeles Times.

The first sensation of any loyal democrat upon receipt of Tuesday night's election returns must have been one of profound despondency. It was not the sense of defeat that weighed so heavily but the sense of hopelessness. If with a candidate of Mr. Davis' eminent fitness, with principles such as he stood for, and with such conspicuous elements of weakness in the position of the opposition, the democratic party could not win, under what conceivable circumstances could it hope successfully to appeal to the voters in the future.—Philadelphia Record (Dem.)

Yesterday was election! Today the sun of opportunity never broke more encouragingly across a new horizon.—Atlanta Constitution (Dem.)

The Sleeveless Tunic May Be Worn Adapted to Requirements of Informal Evening Dress.

THE evolution of the "shirt waist" of the nineties—as worn by the Gibson girl and other contemporary flappers—to the tunic blouse of the present day might present a fertile field for the work of some diligent student of history of costume. It all came about by gradual steps. The rigid, substantially opaque shirt waist became the lace-trimmed finger blouse—slightly "neck-aboo." Then the georgette blouse—more completely peck-a-bo—at first tucked into the waist like the conventional shirt waist and later allowed to come over the waist line to the hips. Little by little it lengthened and became richer and more varied as to fabric. And here we have the so-called costume tunic, differing from a simple one-piece frock only in that it must be worn with a slip which appears only for a brief extent beneath the tunic.

Interestingly enough these tunics are often quite appropriate for afternoon and less formal evening wear.

It was characteristic of late Victorian days that a very definite line was drawn between day frocks and evening frocks. No one with normal eyesight might mistake the afternoon frock for the evening frock, nor might a woman who made any pretensions to fashion make a luncheon frock "do" for a dinner frock. But now of course all this has changed. There are sleeveless tunic costumes that are appropriate for luncheon and may still be worn for rather informal dinner and the theatre. The sketch shows one such—a tunic of metallic brocade worn over a black satin slip. Unbelted and straight of line this little tunic is especially becoming to the woman of petite proportions.

Some of the newest tunics have with them girlish of narrow ribbon or cord that may be worn or not, to suit the caprice—and let us hope the proportions of the woman who buys them. To the woman who buys her clothes "ready made" and without the aid of the professional tailor, the tunic costume has much to recommend it. It is usually a simple enough matter to shorten the long tunic, at the hem and the costume slip beneath it offers no difficult problems in the way of adjustment.

Report Shows Ferry Losing

MARTINEZ, Nov. 18.—Affording a remarkable contrast with the claims of engineers of the Railroad Commission that the Bodeo-Vallejo Ferry Company has been realizing a profit of 50 per cent. it developed at a rail board investigation of the rates and service of the Martinez-Bodega Ferry Company yesterday that the local transportation firm has operated at a loss.

Officials of the local company were advised by the commission, in a report submitted by Assistant Engineer P. A. Dufour, to abandon their conservative operating policy and to adopt a more progressive one to place the company on a more solid financial basis.

Toward this suggested policy, the commission increased the company's estimated expenses for 1924-25 by 12 per cent. over the actual operating expenses of the previous fiscal year. The increase, amounting to nearly $10,000, raises the estimated operating expenses for the year to $39,960.

WHERE IT STARTED

THE SACK
The word "sack" meaning "bag" is one of the few words that are the same in all languages; according to tradition, it was the last word uttered before the confusion of tongues at Babel, and so survived the same in all tongues. A discharged workman picks up his sack, or bag, tools and leaves; hence the expression "To get the sack."

WISE AND OTHERWISE

THE AGE OF THE GIRL
PROBABLY the press reformers and the uplifters had nothing to do with it—this wonderful change in woman's dress that has taken place within a generation—a change that has put women's dress on a higher plane of hygiene than man's that has banished tight lacing, high stiff collars, monstrous sleeves, numerous and voluminous petticoats, skirts that touch and trail on the ground, everything that might conceivably be regarded as unwholesome save possibly the high-heeled shoe.

A distinguished French dressmaker who recently visited this country assured us that the day of the corset and girdle. The tightly laced waist was in no danger of returning, said he. The uncorseted figure would be part of whatever style change came about. After that it was interesting to lay hands on a little book of advice to women written in 1846, which in implying them to give up the tightly-laced corset it remarked that "a greater number annually die among the female sex in consequence of tight lacing than are destroyed among the other sex by the use of spirituous liquor."

HYGIE'S HARP
When the doctor of today finds you suffering from what our mothers used to speak of as "general debility"—just being more or less fagged and run down—he is pretty sure to suggest golf, or fencing, or riding. It would be surprising, wouldn't it, if he recommended using the vacuum cleaner and the dust mop, or told you that what you needed to tone you up was pushing the baby of the family for an hour or so a day? Doctors don't do that sort of thing nowadays.

But eighty years ago all this was different, and if a woman showed signs of needing invigorating exercise she has urged to do a little light housework. Using the great spinning wheel was looked upon as very salutary. It was even known as Hygieia's Harp. "The universal exercise which it gives the frame," says one commentator, "makes it an efficacious remedy for debility, and its regular use has been found salutary even in pulmonary affections."

PARENTS OF GIRL

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Masvik, 712 Ripley avenue, are receiving congratulations since the arrival of a baby girl Saturday night. The little girl has been named Cara Hazel. Masvik is a well-known Standard Oil employee and is the son of Mrs. H. Christopher, 437 Fifteenth street. Mrs. Masvik, prior to her marriage was Miss Shirley Hutchins, of Hayward. Mother and baby are at the Richmond Maternity hospital under the care of Dr. Clara Spaulding and are reported to be doing well.

Farmers in Alsace-Lorraine Adopting Modern Methods

(By Universal Service)

STRASSBURG, Nov. 18.—The type and methods of the agricultural cooperative societies of Alsace-Lorraine have been determined by the circumstances and needs of the farmers who are for the most part poor agriculturalists, a responsibility as much as may be to a land a small holding proprietors. I was told that the proportion of holders with no more than 10 and 11 acres is as high as 75 per cent.

The variety of cultivation may be observed comprehensively in the Alsatian plain—the narrow strip of almost self-contained territory lying between the Vosges mountains and the Rhine. The homesteads are clustered in villages, so that there are few isolated farmhouses. The land which is rarely fenced, is cultivated in rotation strips. Vine gardens are numerous, and the general field crops include all cereals, including maize, potatoes, roots for cattle feeding, sugar beet, tobacco, hops and green fenses. Tree fruits and strawberries are grown intensively, and vegetables are produced in large quantities. Dairying is in the main a secondary activity, and in the breeding of cows a type has been evolved which is equally useful for milking and husbandry.

Horse-breeding for farm work and military purposes is an important side line. As a result of the educational work of the cooperative societies the results of scientific research are applied in practical work by these peasant farmers to a remarkable extent, and the purchase and distribution of fertilizers constitutes an important part of the business of the marketing societies.

From this brief description it will be readily understood that credit is a vital factor, as the smallholder's capital is limited. It was natural that when these men decided to co-operate their minds should turn to a credit organization as a means of freeing themselves from the incubus of the usurers.

Year by year the need for funds to tide them over the period between the purchase of seed and fertilizers and the sale of the crops is experienced, and the need becomes still more urgent when an effort is made to improve yield and quality by purchasing the best strains of seeds or plants, by using larger quantities of fertilizers, and by obtaining the best implements.

Being in the sphere of German influence, it was natural that the Raiffeisen type of loan and savings credit society should be chosen. It is a type specially suited to the needs of small men with no surplus capital to invest. The societies must be small and open only to members within a limited area. The loans are not large, but they are often granted with little other security than the good name of the lender.

All the members pledge themselves on the principle of unlimited liability to make good the obligations of the society. This gives confidence to the creditors, whose savings provide most of the funds for lending, and it induces caution in the allocation of the loans.

Blind Men as Dancers

(By Universal Service)
LONDON, Nov. 18.—There are no fewer than four men who dance regularly in the West End, although they are blind.

One of them, Mr. Victor Crompton, conceals his infirmity so well that it was only a fortnight ago that the dance instructresses at the Grafton Galleries, where he dances most frequently, learned that he could not see. Even then, it had to be pointed out to them.

Mr. Crompton is a tall, dark, handsome man, who went blind when just leaving Malvern College in 1914.

"I had not learned to dance until after it happened," he said. "Now, with racing, it is my chief recreation. One's sense of hearing becomes marvelously developed, and even in a crowded room I steer my partner.

She, however, presses my hand on my shoulder imperceptibly if some one suddenly blunders towards us. I usually dance at the Grafton or the Savoy."

Mr. Douglas Hope was an officer in the Scots Guards when he was blinded. He afterwards founded the Victory Flower Shop in Piccadilly Arcade, which he is still running.

"Doctors say it is something to do with the nerves of the face," he said. "Whatever it is, I can always tell when some one is near me, however silent they are. I am very fond of dancing, usually going to Claridge's or the embassy." Mr. Hope is tall and slim and wears smoked glasses. Captain Ian Fraser, the gallant prospective Conservative candidate for North St. Pancras, also dances considerably—his tall, broad figure and extreme good looks being seen everywhere when elections are not in progress.

The fourth is Mr. Cecil Langton, a member of the Bachelors' Club. He is fair, of middle height, and has given up the black banage in place of glass.

FRENCH BARBER TRIES TO CHANGE MEN'S STYLES

(By Universal Service)

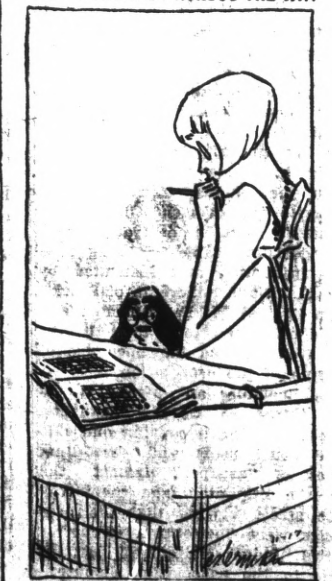

PARIS, Nov. 17.—Another forlorn Knight has entered the lists to attempt to change the styles for men. His name is Antoine. Antoine is a barber. He claims with another tonsorial artist, La Barbe, the distinction of having invented "bobbed hair." In one event Antoine's salon in the Rue Boissy d'Anglas, just near the Crillon Hotel, is one of the most fashionable places in Paris. There you can hear the latest gossip from the Avenue du Bois and the Faubourg St. Germain.

Baron Antoine made a sensation. All over France he is called the modern "Petroneus." But—

So far he is the only one to wear his clothes a passionate mauve.

Dante's Inferno Showing Today at Macdonald

"Dante's Inferno," the picture which has been talked about for months for this reason or that, has come to town at last and will be seen today tomorrow and Friday at the Macdonald theatre.

So much advance comment is floating around on "Inferno"—about its dreads of—ahem—unadorned ladies; demons lashing aforesaid beautiful young ladies with whips or throwing them into lakes of burning brimstone, that we slipped an extra aspirin tablet or two into our pocket and went to the Macdonald theatre prepared for the worst.

Well, we can't deny that we had our feelings prodded and jabbed and our emotions thrown around from the depths of infernal woe to the heights of celestial bliss, all in one evening, but we came out of the theatre smiling and happy, with the sense of having enjoyed ourselves immensely. It's that kind of a picture. Fantastic, beautiful, dramatic, spectacular, unique—these and a whole bunch of other two dollar adjectives are necessary to describe this picture.

The hell stuff is strictly as per advertisement, and there are just enough scary little touches mixed up with the fire and brimstone and writhing souls to put the Dante part over with a bang. A modern story about a terrible-tempered old millionaire and his family has been worked into the picture without detracting one iota from the great poet's conception of Hell. In fact, to our mind, it built up the picture in very satisfactory style.

Really the picture is well worth seeing; it has been recently handled; it is a faithful picturization of the Dante text and it sets some new high marks in motion picture photography. Better see it.

"Call of the Canyon" Showing at Richmond

The inspiring contrast between traffic-crowded streets in New York and magnificent open spaces of mountainous Arizona are shown in a manner never before presented on the screen in "The Call of the Canyon," a Paramount picture adapted from Zane Grey's latest novel, which will be on view at the Richmond theatre today and tomorrow.

Featured in the cast are Richard Dix, Lois Wilson and Marjorie Daw. The picture was directed by Victor Fleming. Heading the supporting cast are Noah Beery, Ricardo Cortez and Fred Huntley, men at the top of their profession.

The picture deals with the phase of current American history immediately following the great war when the world went mad over jazz music and wild extravagance. Richard Dix as Glenn Kilbourne, a war hero,

"His Hour" Is Feature Picture at California

From every walk of life they come into pictures, some act, some to direct and some to engage in the technical end. That is brought home forcibly in "His Hour," Elinor Glyn's latest production, which is coming to the California theatre starting today for two days.

A bonified Prince; a General who actually served as aide de camp to the former Grand Duke Nicholas; a Duchess born to the title and numerous other brilliant members of the old Russian court circle all play in "His Hour" which is a Metro-Goldwyn picture.

Royalty appears in roles that the really a part of them: wearing the jewels and ermine to which they were so long accustomed and which were so melodramatically snatched from them when the Soviet came into power during the World War.

"His Hour," which Mrs. Glyn wrote while visiting the royal family in St. Petersburg, is a colorful drama of love and pathos, and is brimful of the brilliance always to be found in Mrs. Glyn's writings.

The two featured players of this vivid production are those Mrs. Glyn has selected as the screen's most romantic lovers, Aileen Pringle and John Gilbert. "His Hour" was directed by King Vidor and is a Louis B. Mayer production.

Johnnie Perkins, the round singing comedian will be an added feature on all programs this week.

Other features include the Spot Family in their latest comedy scream entitled, "Hot Stuff," "International News," Larry F. Canelo at the organ.

John Mendonsa to Erect Garage

John Mendonsa will erect a one story frame garage and re-shingle the roof of his home on Eighth street between Bissell and Macdonald avenue, according to permit issued yesterday by the office of building inspector L. Wierda. The work will cost $150.

returns to his sweetheart Carley Burch who is living a gay life like the rest of young America. Carley played by Lois Wilson, is unwilling to give up city luxuries to go west with Kilbourne. In Arizona meanwhile, Gleen meets Flo Hutter (Marjorie Daw). He is about to marry her when Carley Burch arrives from the east.

A series of dramatic scenes follow in which the girl from New York wages a battle of wits against Flo for the affections of Kilbourne. The bigness of the spirit of westerners is shown in the final scenes which are filled with suspense to the close of the picture. It is a picture that none can see without enjoyment and profit.

Other features on the same program include "Wedding Showers," a Lige Conley comedy; "Prizma," a screen novelty.

CARDS-BRUINS ARE RATED EVEN

80,000 WILL SEE ANNUAL BIG GAME

Little To Choose From As Far As Strength Goes, Card Man Declares

By DON E. LIEBENDORFER

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Nov. 18.—Stanford and the University of California will battle for the football supremacy of the Pacific Coast in the California Memorial stadium at Berkeley next Saturday. Some eighty thousand fans will witness what is expected to be the greatest struggle in recent years when the two ancient rivals meet.

For the first time in many years, the odds are even. Both teams are undefeated and California has but one tie to mar her record this season. In eight games, the Bears have scored 128 points to 31 by her opponents. The Cards have hung up a total of 149 digits to 22 by their rivals, in seven games.

From the standpoint of defense, Stanford seems to have an edge as Warner's line is made up, for the most part, of veterans. The Bruins must be conceded the advantage in the backfield because of the sensational work of Carlson, Johns, Imlay, and Dixon. In neither case, however, is their very much to choose between the rivals.

The Cards will probably start the game with the following lineup: center, Baker; guards, Swan and Neill; tackles, H. Shipkey and Johnston; ends, T. Shipkey and Captain Lawson; quarterback, Mitchell; halves, Cleveland and Cuddeback; fullback, Hey.

There is a possibility that this may be changed in three places. Neill is still limping from an injury in practice last week and if he is unable to start, Hunt will start at guard. Mitchell, because of his showing in the last two games is favored for the quarterback position but Warner may decide to use Solomon. Nevers was hurt in the Montana game last Saturday and may not be able to get into shape. If he is not, either Hey or Bogue will undoubtedly perform at fullback.

PRINCETON QUARTER AND FULLBACK NEGOTIATING

FORWARD PASS IN TIGER'S 34-0 VICTORY OVER HARVARD

In the football annals of the two universities, the 1924 game stands as one of the most overwhelming of Crimson disasters. Coach Bob Roper surprised everybody by starting Bo Dinsmore at quarterback for Princeton, and that heady, game and brilliant player deserves much of the credit for getting the Tigers off on the jump and carrying them to an early advantage. He was forced to retire in the second period from a vicious tackle, but he had set an example the others were quick to follow. The photograph shows Dinsmore negotiating a forward pass with fullback Caldwell.

Miss Ieda Ogborn Is Initiated in Honor Society

Miss Ieda Ogborn, daughter of Councilwoman Marie Ogborn, was one of 18 co-eds initiated last night into the ranks of the Prytanian Honor society.

On their past records of service for the advancement of women's activities at the State university these chosen were adjudged as most fitting and capable to carry on traditions and work of the society, the supreme women's honor society of the campus.

It will be their work to plan and carry to completion the famous Prytanian fête which once a year is produced by the feminine half of the campus and ranks second in importance, artistically, only to the "Parthenon."

The initiation was followed by a banquet held in the clubrooms of the Stephens Union building two floors below.

The ceremonies were in charge of Margaret Rowe, president; Gertrude Martin, vice-president; Helen Lavers, treasurer, and Nancy Upp, corresponding secretary.

In addition to the 18 new student members, six members of the faculty and alumni were taken into the society as honorary members. They were Mrs. May King Morris, Miss M. N. Lent, Miss E. E. Bartlett, Mrs. Stuart Daggett, Miss M. Theresa Tommasini and Annie Florence Brown.

Drink Water When Kidneys Hurt You

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating foods which create acids, says a well-known authority. An excess of such acids overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and boggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the system, so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, can not injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink. Drink lots of soft water. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

PRIZE FIGHT FUNDS HELD UP BY PROMOTERS

Fred Fulton and Manager Released on $1000 Cash Bail Each

(By Universal Service) LOS ANGELES, Nov. 18.—As an aftermath of last night's alleged fake fight at Culver City, when Fred Fulton was knocked out by Tony Fuente, on a charge of prizefighting. At the District Attorney's office Fulton admitted he had received $6,000 for the fight. He refused to answer questions whether he had faked the fight.

Blubbling like a baby when he was accused by Deputy District Attorneys of "taking a flop" so Fuente could be declared the winner of the bout, the big Minnesota heavyweight denied the charges, saying Fuente struck him over the heart and injured him.

SAINT MARY'S AND NEVADA TO MEET FRIDAY

Oakland Squad Leaves for Reno Tonight For Contest With Erb's men

Coach "Slip" Madigan and his fighting Irishmen board the rattler for Reno this evening for their game Friday with the University of Nevada. The contest was originally slated for Saturday, but it would take more than the proverbial team of horses to keep Charlie Erb away from the California-Stanford game, so the request for the change was made by the little coach of the Wolf Pack. Moreover, the change of date fits in well with the plans of St. Mary's for the Saints meet Santa Clara in the big Thanksgiving Day game at Ewing Field and the Oaklanders jumped at the chance to get an extra day between the two contests.

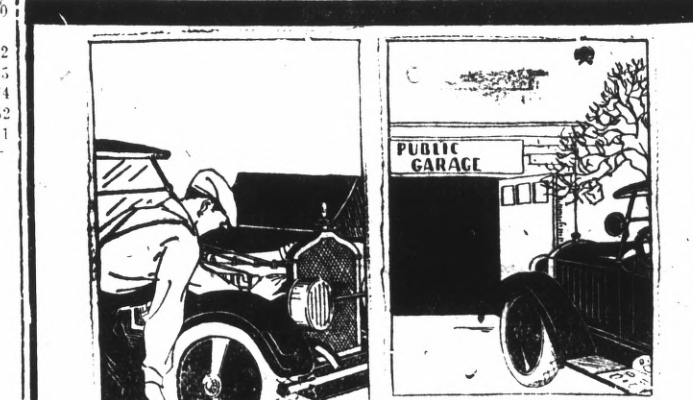

Madigan is looking forward to the Nevada game with a great deal of anxiety, for "Slip" realizes that the Wolf Pack is a tough outfit to defeat on its own lot. The great punting of Harrison, which should be aided by the altitude at Reno, is the greatest asset that the Renolites have in the way of defense, and it will take particularly good punting on Rooney's part to offset this advantage.

Trade Treaties Indicate Start Of Big Struggle For Markets Through All Parts of World

By JOHN SEGRUE
(By Universal Service)

BERLIN, Nov. 18.—The trade negotiations between the Allies and Germany beginning here and in Paris—preliminaries to the drafting of trade treaties—represent in a sense the approach to the big struggle for world markets.

In the matter of these treaties, Germany feels herself to be the sought-after, not the suitor. The "concessions" the Allies want will only be obtained after a severe struggle and extra high fee.

The era of dictation, as the forthcoming negotiations will prove, has for good or for ill ended definitely. Germany's vastly improved international situation explains the aloofness, hauteur and independence which have lately marked her foreign policy.

New Spirit of Confidence

The transformation little short of astonishing, which has come over the country's internal situation during the past few weeks—since the London Conference ended—certainly justifies the revived spirit of confidence and assurance which all observers now remark here.

A long dormant giant is awakening.

Retrospection over a closed era reveals quite clearly that currency inflation alone caused Germany's post-war ills; defeat, except indirectly, had nothing to do with them. Stabilization, on the other hand, has effected the complete cure.

This recovery doubtless would have occurred earlier had not the currency stabilization in its first stages been associated with the idea of tentativeness in the public mind. The Reichstag endorsement of the Dawes report, removing finally all possibility of new inflation, rendered possible a return to pre-war normality.

Getting Fat Again

That return has been effected with lightning-like speed. The days of the underfed, ill-paid, ill-clothed German have definitely passed.

The income of the average German as a result of the currency stabilization has increased ten-fold. Everyone is ten times better off than a year ago. Germans are getting fat again, sure sign, as they admit themselves of a complacent mind and a full purse.

The vast middle class has popped up once more, and assumed its old vital role in the country's economy. Nothing, indeed, has been more astonishing than the cork-like resilience of Germany's middle class.

Inflation and the resultant expropriation were believed to have killed it. Politicians and newspapers deplored its passing, composed its epitaph, shed tears over its tombstone, and now, in the general German resurrection, it emerges fresh, vigorous, alert, and if not yet prosperous, having all the elements which make for an early prosperity.

The profiteer, on the other hand, is in eclipse. This recoil in Germany after years of downward plunging is at once puzzling and dramatic. At the vital moment of veering there has been no sort of hesitant maneuvering in the wind, no indecision in captain or crew. The mists merely lift, and a country which according to all the prophets was definitely doomed is found heading on a smooth sea for the port of an orderly prosperity. There has been here a magic claiming of the waters as in the Bible miracles or in Shakespeare's "Tempest."

Many a first impression has been ruined by some seemingly little thing

IT'S so easy to get off on the wrong foot with people—whether it be in an important business contact or simply in a casual social meeting.

It pays in life to be able to make people like you. And so often it is some seemingly very little thing that may hold you back.

For example, quite unconsciously you watch a person's teeth when he or she is in conversation with you. If they are unclean, improperly kept, and if you are a fastidious person, you will automatically hold this against them. And all the while this same analysis is being made of you.

Listen! Tooth Paste cleans teeth a new way. At last our chemists have discovered a polishing ingredient that really cleans without irritating the enamel—a difficult problem finally solved.

You will notice the improvement even in the first few days. And you know it is cleaning safely. So the makers of Listerine, the safe antiseptic, have found for you also the really safe dentifrice.

What are your teeth saying about you today?—LISTERINE TOOTH PASTE

Minnesota's Governor-Elect in Family Group, Including Mother-in-Law, His Campaign Worker

There is no mother-in-law problem or joke in the family of Theodore Christianson, newly elected governor of Minnesota. Mrs. T. B. Donaldson, mother of Christianson's wife, was one of the most enthusiastic enterprise is encountered. In the Textile Institute at Dresden silk is being made out of wood at the great railway exhibition just opened here new types of huge locomotives exact admiration from foreign visitors. Improved methods of wreck-raising have been tried near Hamburg. Nepotism is banned.

The best jobs go to the efficient. "Girl typists, secretaries, shorthand writers wanted. High school education essential." Such is the type of advertisement meeting the eye in the newspapers.

There has been, moreover, a great "purification" of late in the ranks of employers. The mushroom banks and export and import houses which carried on their illicit trade through the corridor of the occupied Ruhr have been snuffed out. The old type of German business man reappears, the type has vanished to quote the socialist newspaper "Vorwaerts," expected his girl secretary to become his mistress.

No Trade Boom

It is true there is no trade "boom" in Germany at the moment. Germany is still in the stage of preparation for the great struggle. The athlete is in training.

Throughout the country trade conferences, propaganda exhibitions, sample fairs, attract thousands of people. Two thousand engineers and railway experts were in Berlin for the railway exhibition; a central heating congress has just been opened; members of German foreign Chambers of Commerce abroad arrived to discuss the best plans for the capture of world trade; the congress of the German wholesale traders is discussing similar problems; while a big fair is being organized by the German tobacco trade.

English Hobby to Collect Ships; Ex-Naval Officers Services Are in Demand

By A. J. AITKEN
(By Universal Service)

LONDON, Nov. 18.—England's new popular hobby is to collect miniature ships. Retired naval officers find a large demand for their services in helping collectors to adjust riggings correctly and to repair bills.

Favored people—such as Samuel Pepys in his capacity as a member of the Navy Board—have gathered collections of model ships in the past. Today, however, ships are in demand by simple collectors. They are classified in the same way as stamps, coins, china and first editions. It is a hobby that is going to spread, and many of the new collectors are those who realize this and are now buying for a rise in price.

Before a ship was built, a model was prepared and submitted. That is how Pepys gathered his collection of naval models. Another type of model is that made by a sailor on a long voyage to amuse himself.

The "first models" are those most eagerly sought. These will be out of the reach of the ordinary collector.

and so as the hobby spreads new models of famous ships will be made. You will be able to lay replicas of the Mayflower, the Golden Hind, the Cutty Sark, and the Victory to begin your collection.

A historical collection would begin with a model of the dug-out canoe made from a single tree, discovered in connection with the Swiss Stone Age relics. The Roman boat made of heavy wood, that had to be scientifically constructed before it would float, must come next. Virgil speaks with pride of the "hollowed alders."

The first known ship—as distinct from a boat or canoe—is Egyptian, and could be copied from the tomb paintings. From that to the Roman war vessels, the Fast India merchantmen, the naval three-deckers, and the Vulcan—the first iron ship—is a

Many private collections of ships, built up by students and writers, are certain to come on the market as the value of model ships increases in proportion of the new demand.

Zaghul

By FRANK SCUDAMORE
(By Universal Service)

(Mr. Scudamore is the well-known War Correspondent who first saw service in the Russo-Turkish War in 1877.)

LONDON, Nov. 18.—It is 43 years since I first made the acquaintance of Saad Pasha Zaghul. We met in the big reception room of Arabi Pasha's house by the late Mr. Moberly Bell. Arabi, in 1881, was almost at the zenith of his power. He dominated the Egypt that kicked against the Dual Control just as Saad Zaghul dominates Egypt today, and, like him, was adopted by all classes of his countrymen.

There is, indeed, more than a little similarity of character traceable between the two men, though intellectually Zaghul towers head and shoulders above the leader of the '82 rebellion. But Arabi played down to the mob as Zaghul has never done, making the most, in a fanatical age, of his intimate knowledge of the Koran, from which he would recite whole chapters during the daily receptions, which kept his house thronged with his eager admirers.

Conspicuous in that salon, and near to the dais on which sat Arabi in state, was generally to be found Zaghul, then a building lawyer, who had but recently broken through his felloah chrysalis.

The Typical Fellah

The was still in appearance the typical fellah of the better class, tall, gaunt, broad shouldered, with high cheek bones prominent in a pale clear face, with fierce deep-set eyes with the far-away look which goes so often with fanaticism, and a rare smile that lit up his otherwise rather sombre features.

Zaghul at that time was comparatively unknown, though he was soon to become conspicuous; but obscure he never was, or, indeed, could have been.

At the time of our first meeting the Pasha knew hardly any French, and our talk was perforce in Arabic, which Moberly Bell spoke well, and I then, indifferently. Since that time the Pasha has become a proficient French scholar. He spent some time in France with that object just as recently he set himself during his interment at Gibraltar to acquire a knowledge of English.

Saad Zaghul's brilliant gifts of brain, coupled with the recognized high-mindedness of his aims, attracted in the early 'nineties the interest of Princess Nazli Hannouni. This clever, charming and beautiful lady, whom it was my privilege to meet in Constantinople (in the early 'eighties) was the niece of the Khedive Ismail and the widow of Halli Sherif Pasha, for many years Turkish Ambassador in Paris.

A Cairo Salon

A brilliantly clever woman who spoke English as we do, Princess Nazli had a salon in Cairo, where she met the "thinkers" of all races whom she honored with her friendship. It was in this salon that Egypt's Premier first met the talented and charming lady whom he married in 1896. Already Mile. Fakhri, daughter of Mustapha Pash (five times Premier of Egypt), was known as a brilliant politician and ardent Nationalist.

Zaghul Pasha's health has suffered gravely since his last visit to London. His arrest in December, 1921; his two months in Aden, five and a half months at Mahe in the Seychelles, and his seven months' interment in Gibraltar (when, however, he had the comfort of his wife's society), gave a heavy shock to a system never physically robust.

TO LEGALIZE POLYGAMY NEW PLAN FOR FRANCE

(By Universal Service)

PARIS, Nov. 17.—If Georges Anquetil, author and pro-polygamist, wins the seat in the Chamber of Deputies he is to contest early in the year, a bill will be introduced legalizing polygamy in France as a means for boosting the birth rate.

So at any rate, declares Anquetil, who in a book published this year, said that it was "illogical and against nature to impose one woman on one man." Anquetil has obtained the support of many well-known people in France, including doctors, lawyers and literary men. He would not make polygamy compulsory, but would tax a man according to the number of wives. If a man had only one wife he would be taxed as at present, but the tax would be reduced with every wife, and a man with five wives would be exonerated entirely.

Babe Ruth and Walter Johnson "Choosing Up" Sides Just as They Did It in Their Boyhood Days

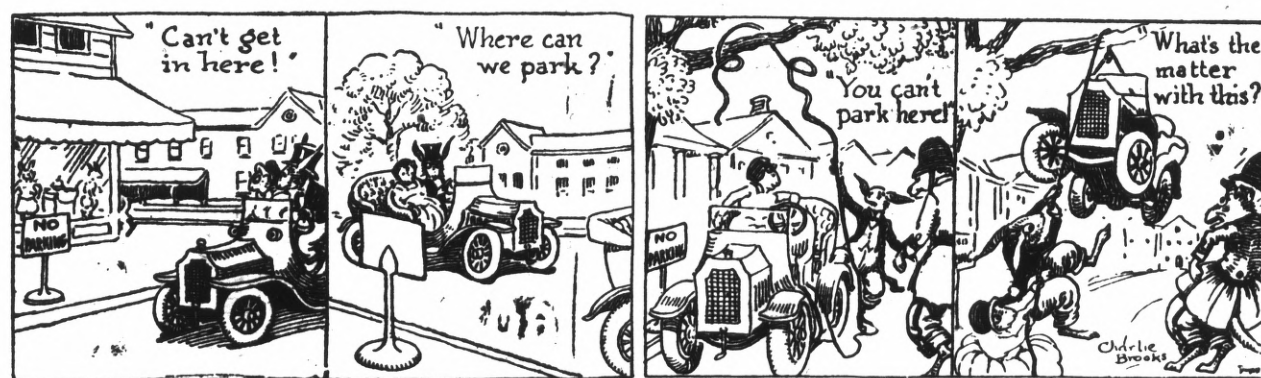

The home run king and the pitcher star of the Washington Senators chose sides for a game at Los Angeles by tossing the bat—a custom of the days when they played on sandlots diamonds. Babe's team won by a score of 11 to 1. The Bambino pitched the entire game, allowing Johnson's team only half a dozen scattered hits. To round out a perfect day, he smacked out two homers.

MASTER FORGERS' TRICKS EXPOSED

The "Perfect Forgery" Always Has a Weak Spot That Leads to Penman's Downfall.

NATIONWIDE DRAGNET OUT

Bankers Working Together to Catch Crooks Who Cause Losses of $150,000,000 With Bad Checks Yearly.

A bogus check scheme that was so original, sound and business-like that it became known in detective circles as "the one perfect forgery," but finally, like all of them, led to its own inventor being trapped, is described by Reuben A. Lewis, Jr., in the American Bankers Association Journal. The article which says forgeries cost the banks and business concerns at least $150,000,000 a year, deals with the ways of forgers and the relentless warfare being conducted against them by the bankers.

"Crime does not pay," Mr. Lewis says. "Soon the misguided operator who thinks he can get away with it. For one of the peculiar things about the forger is that, while he may devise a clever scheme that brings a rich return on its initial trial, he continues to work it until caught."

"Fortunately, there appears to be a weak spot in the best laid scheme. And just as soon as this weak spot is uncovered, it is broadcast to all the banks in the land. So the banks, informed as to the method of approach that the forger will make, and the little peculiarities of the job, are on the alert to nab him when he makes his next reappearance."

The King of Forgers

"The master forger" is William Hamilton Harkins, probably the most dangerous operator known to the banking world. Several times in the toils of the law, Harkins has managed to escape. The daring "king" of the forgers made a confession that he had defrauded banks of more than $300,000 during the years of his career.

"His scheme follows a certain set pattern. The key to Harkins' plan is obtaining a blank check from the checkbook of a well known firm. Recently Harkins snatched into the office of a granite dealer. He ordered a monument and tendered a check for a substantial part of the memorial. He requested the proprietor of the store to permit him to dash off a letter to his folks at home. Seizing a propitious moment, Harkins spotted his checkbook, noted the exact balance, tore out a sheet of checks and disappeared. Reproducing the proprietor's signature, Harkins drew up a sizeable check. On the reverse side he inscribed his alias as the payee and then added after 'O. K.' the facsimile of the depositor's signature. This acted as an identification endorsement, so when he presented the check at the bank it was readily cashed."

The Weak Spot Banks throughout the country have been put on guard against Harkins and his plan and it is believed he cannot operate long without again falling into the net. The scheme that was pronounced unbeatable was devised by a forger known as F. Mayer and centered around the certified check fraud, Mr. Lewis says, continuing: "F. Mayer would open accounts with four or five banks in a sizeable city. The largest account ran around $5,000. By kiting checks back and forth between the several banks he would establish his identity with the tellers and become known as a man accustomed to deal in large figures."

"After conducting these preliminaries for a few weeks, Mayer would go to the bank where he had his largest account and ask that a certified check be issued to him for substantially all of the money remaining to his credit. From the genuine check he would make four or five duplicates."

"In turn, Mayer would visit the other banks, where he had established small accounts. Inasmuch as he had cashed checks for some time, Mayer generally had little trouble in getting the banks to honor the certified checks. If a teller took the precaution of calling the issuing bank on the telephone to inquire if it had made out such a certified check, he would gain confirmation."

The Forger Caught "But even the 'perfect' forgery scheme cannot be worked with impunity. Mayer succeeded in defrauding Kansas City banks out of $27,000 and made his escape. A few months later he was walking down the streets of Los Angeles when a teller who had honored one of the bogus checks in the middle western city recognized him. Mayer took to his heels with the former teller in hot pursuit, and the criminal lost."

The losses sustained through forgeries by banks may be mainly attributed to the failure of the tellers to observe the rules against cashing checks for strangers or allowing depositors to draw on uncollected items. "A relentless, sustained hunt is conducted to apprehend the forgers. The new twists, the variations in the methods, the latest ruses used are followed by the detectives. The modes of operation are broadcast throughout the country," the article declares. "The American Bankers Association alone, through its Protective Division, spends more than $100,000 a year to check depredations against banks."

Martinez Man Seeks Death

MARTINEZ, Nov. 18.—Following an unsuccessful attempt yesterday afternoon to end his life by stabbing himself over the heart with a blunt chisel, George Pearson, Martinez contractor, today was bailed in a second suicide try after he had made two ugly wounds in his neck with the rusty blade of a wood plane and had staged a terrific fight with three men near the Southern Pacific depot when they attempted to overpower him. Pearson's condition is not serious, it was stated at the county hospital, where he was taken by deputy sheriffs.

According to Deputy Sheriff J. M. Joseph, who with Deputy Sheriff Frank Larkin and John Lake, bailed Pearson's latest suicide try, Pearson has been drinking for several days.

JUDGE

Something of the rivalry that has made life interesting in El Cerrito the last year was disclosed by Stark the president. It related to the last meeting at which he presided.

"Things waxed warm," Stark testified. "It ended with the crowd dismissing me with a wave of the hand. 'You're through' one man shouted and called for the vice president. I ordered the meeting adjourned. Then I was invited outside to settle it."

Judge McKenzie's act in invalidating two elections puts Stark back as president of the association. He will wield the gavel at the obsequies on November 25.

The split in the ranks of the association occurred when a proposal was advanced that a lot be purchased as a site for an association building. Some members wanted to erect the structure as individuals and rent it to the association. Others demurred. Both factions began using the name of the association. On November 14 Talmadge's faction held a dance which had been advertised as under the auspices of the association. A restraining order obtained by Stark's faction halted use of the name of the association, so Talmadge and his supporters billed it as under the auspices of John Doe and Mary Doe.

New Mesopotamian Premier Building Well Paid Army

(By Universal Service) LONDON, Nov. 17.—Yasin Fasha, the new Prime Minister of Mesopotamia, is a capable man who has some definite convictions. One is that the country could be run without one fourth of the present foreign personnel.

If he has also the conviction that in many cases the posts should be abolished, many will agree with him, but the Mesopotamian's idea is not abolition of posts, but more of them. If he fails to find jobs for Mesopotamians he cannot hope to last long.

The Mesopotamian Army is going strong—on paper. Expenditure on the army is about one-third of the total revenue, and there is a supplementary estimate to come. The rates of pay are good. A private soldier receives more than $15 a month, with food housing, and clothing. A sergeant-major is paid more than $15 with allowances.

The present strength of the army is under seven thousand. The aim is to raise this figure to thirty thousand by 1927, to do which is will be necessary to introduce conscription. Conscription will, it is thought, come in next year. The Minister who has pluck enough to propose it deserves sympathy.

King Faisal is interesting himself in land. He has purchased land in and about Khaniquin, ostensibly for agriculture, but actually with a view to its oil-bearing possibilities.

Believe Nash Set Another Sales Record

November will set another new Nash sales record, according to every indication in the first half of the month. Continued demand for the new Nash series of cars, which has left the factory oversold ever since the announcement August 1, will make this the greatest November in the history of The Nash Motors Company and a very close second, in point of sales, to the month of October which had the greatest business ever recorded by Nash. F. D. Scholtes, local dealer says the demand in Richmond for Nash cars is greater than ever.

At a time when the automobile industry as a whole is passing through the normally "low period" of the year, plants of The Nash Motors Company are literally working night and day. Night shifts were put on at the Advanced Six factory in Kenosha within a few days after the announcement of the new line; two weeks later the Milwaukee plant, where the Special Six is built also put on a night shift, and about the same time the plant of the Seaman Body Corporation, which builds Nash enclosed bodies exclusively, was operating night and day.

Many of the departments in the Seaman plant run only night and day but Sunday as well; this is not true of the entire plant but is an indication of the unusual efforts that are being made by Nash Motors to meet the demand which greeted the announcement of its new line of cars. With the election over business in general has turned the corner and according to those who have given the situation close study there is every indication of a prosperous year throughout 1925.

WILL ADDRESS HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY

J. P. Smith will be the principal speaker at a meeting of the Home Missionary Society, Friday afternoon, at the First Methodist church. There will be a program and refreshments will be served.

Hoof and Mouth Disease Cost Over Four Millions

(By Universal Service) SACRAMENTO, Nov. 18.—The hoof and mouth disease in California caused a total loss of $4,326,243.74. It was announced today by State Agricultural Director George H. Hecke.

A total of 923 herds, including 109,141 animals, with an appraised value of $4,262,611.48, were destroyed. Loss of property incidental to the eradication campaign amounted to $63,632.26.

Hecke said the loss was greatest in Los Angeles County, where destroyed cattle were appraised at $1,696,739.17.

The state and federal governments will share the cost of reimbursing cattlemen.

To Fight Charge of Vagrancy

Whether mere presence in an establishment or home when a liquor raid is made can be made the basis of a charge for arrest on a vagrancy complaint is to be determined by a jury in Justice of the Peace Frank Glass at Martinez today.

Entering pleas of not guilty to vagrancy complaints, Dewey Tweedy and Harold Hutchinson, machinists, residing at Giant, yesterday afternoon demanded a jury trial on appearance before the justice. County prohibition officers arrested the men when they found them at the home of W. Schmidt, near San Pablo, when they made a liquor raid Sunday afternoon. Schmidt was arrested on a charge of illegal possession of liquor. The accused men retained Attorney T. D. Johnson to fight the charge.

Civic Center Club Entertains

Max Sheahan of Max's Inn entertained the Civic Center Club yesterday afternoon. Twenty-eight ladies attended. A delicious luncheon was served and an orchestra furnished the dance music during the luncheon. During the afternoon a program was given which was as follows: Mrs. Syra Crutten, piano solos; Mrs. Angela Purvis, piano solos; Mrs. Miller, gave a talk on the Camp Fire Girls and Mrs. Katherine Farenholtz gave a short talk. Mrs. Harry Bryant was in charge of the program.

Mrs. K. A. Cole presented Max's Inn with a beautiful large fern and a bouquet of lavender Chrysanthemums which was followed by a response from Max Sheahan expressing his appreciation of the gift.

Children Cause of Divorce Row

Two children of Mrs. Blanche O. Hutton and two children of her husband, John R. Hutton, of Richmond, have conspired to aid in placing the couple in the divorce court, according to allegation made in a suit filed at Martinez yesterday by the former through Attorney T. H. Delap.

When she objected to one of her husband's sons being absent from school her husband told her it was none of her business if the boy did not attend school. Mrs. Hutton alleges. When she aided her own children in their school lessons Hutton protested violently, she avers, and delivered dissertations on the objects for which school teachers are paid. On one occasion, Mrs. Hutton alleges, when she sought to build a fire to heat a room in which her daughter was to take a music lesson, Hutton demurred and opened the windows and doors and refused to allow her to close them. The music lesson was called off, Mrs. Hutton says.

Hutton is described by his wife as of surly disposition, possessing an ungovernable temper, exhibiting jealousy. Attendance at dances, she declares, was anything but pleasurable since she "sat out" all but a few dances with her husband. Once, when she danced with another man, she says Hutton stopped her and insisted on taking her home. To avoid abuse by Hutton she asserts that she has gone to the home of neighbors and on returning to her home would find doors locked. Mrs. Hutton asks division of community property. The couple married in Oakland in 1920.

Are Released on $1000 Bail

William Schmidt and his wife, Irene, charged with possession and sale of liquor, respectively following their arrest Sunday by county dry squad officers, were released yesterday on bail, the former furnishing $1000 and his wife $500 to guarantee Superior Court appearance. May Anderson, arrested on a vagrancy charge when she was found in the Schmidt home at San Pablo, was fined $10 by Justice Frank Glass when she pleaded guilty.

Vote $500 For County Booklet

FINED $15

A fine of $25 was levied on Hartford Johnson yesterday by Police Judge C. A. Odell, for speeding on Macdonald avenue.

Hutton is a Standard Oil company employee.

The backwardness of the season—the unusually warm Fall weather—and the readiness of our New York buyers to take every advantage of market conditions, make possible the remarkable saving of money you are provided in this offering of Coats and Dresses. Whether you have completed your Winter wardrobe or not, you cannot afford to let this great opportunity escape you. This offering is in accordance with our policy to sell always at the lowest prices consistent with prevailing market conditions. Manufacturers are overstocked and cash purchases for our 571 Stores created enormous price concessions which are passed along to you. Don't miss this!
